What if Israel Crushed Foreign Oil Dependency?

Amazing Energy Innovations Happening in the Jewish State

To the surprise of most, for the past decades, Israel has been leading the world with innovations directed at freeing the world from the OPEC oil cartel energy monopoly. Alternative fuels, batteries, wind and solar energy, along with viable electric cars are just part of what is being advanced in Israel in a breathtaking dimension of success, creativity and quantity. Although usually ignored in public discussion, the world's energy revolution is happening in Israel. It is led by the country's brain trust of outstanding scientists and innovators who are actively improving the world in spite of media silence.

Israel is set to become the world's first electric car country followed by Denmark. The Bay Area could follow by adopting the proven Israeli electric car system and solution. This evening's lecture will include an opportunity to advance the Bay Area's steps to go electric and to understand the impressive viability of the Israeli electric car system.
